LADIES' ONE-PIECE SKIRT.
Paris Pattern No. 3272
All Seams Allowed.

The tunic skirt, one of the newcomers this season, is shown in many variations for wear with shirtwaists or fancy blouses, or to feature as a street costume in combination with Russian blouse or semi-fitted coat. The illustrated model is one of the most attractive of this style garment, the tunic portion consisting of a fold smoothly attached to the one-piece skirt, giving the effect of an overskirt. When washable materials are used for the skirt the fold may be of embroidery or braided in all-over patterns. The skirt is smoothly fitted about the hips by darts, and forms an inverted box-pleat at the back where the closing is effected. As pictured, it is made of white linen. Other materials suitable for its development are serge, velvet, homespun, mohair, wide taffeta or foulard, linen, duck, crash and gingham; also it may be used in lawn, organ or nainsook, with lingerie decoration of lace and insertion. The pattern is in 5 sizes—22 to 30 inches waist measure. For 26 waist the skirt requires 6 yards of material 36 inches wide. Width of lower edge is about 4 yards.

Miss Sutherland Is Bride of Robert Elmore.

ALICE BUCKEY WEDS JUNE 16

Emma Norris Hume and Lynn Sedwick Hornor, of Clarksburg, W. Va., Are Married and Leave on Short Trip—Hymen Claims Louise Cleaves Cole and Robert Belknap.

Miss Edith Lee Sutherland, daughter of Senator and Mrs. George Sutherland, of Utah, was married yesterday afternoon to Mr. A. Robert Elmore, of New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Morgan Ashley, of New York, at 4 o'clock in St. Margaret's Episcopal Church. The bride was attended by Miss Alice Elmore, of New York, sister of the bridegroom, who was maid of honor. The best man was Mr. Fielding Simmons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Eleanor Ridgely, Miss Frances Goldsborough, Miss Alice Boutell, all of Washington, and Miss Virginia Beatty, of Salt Lake City. The ushers were Mr. Robert Stead, Jr., Mr. Harris Christ, Dr. John Belknap, all of Washington; Mr. Norris Parker, of New York, and Dr. Charles Riley, of Baltimore.

The bride wore a white brocade champagne gown with an overdress of chiffon embroidered in orange blossoms. The bodice was trimmed with point lace. Her tulle veil was held with a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride's roses. The maid of honor wore apple blossom pink satin, draped in tulle effect with pink chiffon, with a pink hat and pink flowers. The bridesmaids wore apple blossom pink satin draped in tulle effect with white chiffon, and wore white lace hats trimmed with dainty pink flowers, and carried sweet peas. The decorations in the church were of lilies and dogwood, the family pews being marked with flowers.

Among those present were President Taft, the Vice President and Mrs. Sherman, members of the Cabinet, and members of Congress, and many well known in the official set as well as the residential circle. Following the ceremony there was a large reception at the home of the bride's parents, in the Highlands. The decorations at the house were of dogwood and lilies and branches of the early spring flowers.

After a wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom will make their home in Utah, where Mr. Elmore will practice law.

The date for the wedding of Miss Alice Taylor Waring Buckey, daughter of Mr. Thomas W. Buckey, and Cadet Daniel Huston Torrey, of the class of '10, at West Point, has been set for June 25. The ceremony will be performed in St. Margaret's Church, and will be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's father, "The Manies."

Miss Emma Norris Hume, daughter of Mrs. Frank Hume, was married to Mr. Lynn Sedwick Hornor, of Clarksburg, W. Va., at noon yesterday. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's mother by Rev. T. Parker Phillips, of Alexandria, Va., cousin of the bride. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Mabel Hume, and the best man was Mr. Carl Vance, of Clarksburg, W. Va. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Scott Hume. Her gown was of white satin, with a tulle of white embroidered chiffon and point lace. Her only ornament was a diamond horseshoe, a gift of the bridegroom. Her tulle veil was held with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

The maid of honor wore white batiste over pink satin, with a white hat and pink plumes. Mrs. Hume, the bride's mother, wore black crepe de chine, trimmed in dull jet. Following the ceremony there was a small breakfast of about fifty. After a short trip the bride and bridegroom will live in Clarksburg, W. Va.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Charles Mulberry, of Baltimore; Miss Stewart and Mrs. Cassius Lee, of Virginia; Capt. and Mrs. Jewett, of West Point, N. Y.; Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis and Miss Davis, of Baltimore, and Mr. John E. Hume, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson entertained at dinner last evening. Covers were laid for thirty.

Lieut. Col. James, of the British Embassy, and the Hon. Mrs. James entertained at dinner last evening. Their guests included Mr. Nagel, Secretary of Commerce and Labor; the Charge d'Affaires from Austro-Hungary and Mme. von Loewenthal-Linau; Mr. Young, secretary of the British Embassy, and Mrs. Young; Maj. and Mrs. Austin Wadsworth; Maj. and Mrs. Todd, and Mrs. Charles Bruin Perkins, of New York.

The Russian Ambassador and Baroness Rosen, with their daughter, Baroness Elizabeth Rosen, went to New York yesterday afternoon, where they will celebrate the Russian Easter. They will return Saturday next.

Mme. Chermont, wife of the first secretary of the Brazilian Embassy, returned to Washington yesterday afternoon from Baltimore, where she has visited a few days.

Mrs. Eldridge E. Jordan has gone to Elkton City, Md., where she will spend a few days.

Miss Louise Cleaves Cole, daughter of Mrs. Cole and the late Judge C. C. Cole, and Robert Sidney Belknap, of Amherst, Mass., were married at St. John's Episcopal Church yesterday at noon. Rev. E. S. Dunlap performed the ceremony, in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. The church was decorated with palms, ferns, and dogwood blossoms. H. H. Freeman, the church organist, played a musical programme before the ceremony, which included "The Baccara," "The Tales of Hoffman," "Pride and Prejudice," Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," some of Newton's love songs, and the "Lohengrin" wedding music as the bridal party entered the church, and the wedding music from "Tannhauser" as they passed out.

Mrs. Cole escorted her daughter and gave her in marriage. The bride's gown was of soft ivory satin, the bodice of which was trimmed with a fichu of duchess lace and a draped girde of satin, the skirt being made with a full train. Her ornaments were of pearls. She wore a tulle veil, held in place with orange blossoms. The bride bouquet was a shower of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Helen Palmer, the maid of honor, was gowned in pale pink chiffon cloth made in draped princess effect with dutch neck and trimmed with lace. Her white lace hat was trimmed with pink roses and she carried a basket of white sweet peas. Miss Katherine Leech, of Washington, and Miss Marian Hawley, of Hartford, Conn., were the bridesmaids, and wore white crepe de chine, with white maline hats trimmed with sweet peas, and carried baskets of pink sweet peas.

Miss Clement Kite, of Philadelphia, Pa., was best man for Mr. Belknap, and the ushers were Francis Belknap, of Flushing, Long Island, brother of the bridegroom; George Bell Bloomer, J. A. C. Palmer, and Abner Ferguson, all of Washington.

A small reception was given by the mother of the bride at the Highlands, after the ceremony. A party of relatives and a few intimate friends only attended.

Mrs. Cole assisted the bride's party in receiving and wore a handsome gown of gray crepe de chine, with a violet hat, and a corsage bouquet of violets.

The bride and bridegroom left later in the afternoon for a trip in the North and to their future home, Amherst, Mass. Mrs. Belknap's going away gown was one of blue broadcloth with a black hat trimmed in blue.
